Mail Carriers Will Fly.
This is an age of great discoveries. Progress rides on the air. Soon we may see Uncle Sam's mail carriers flying in all directions, transporting mail. People take a wonderful interest in a discovery that benefits them. That's why Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs, Colds and other throat and lung diseases is the most popular medicine in America. "It cured me of a dreadful cough," writes Mrs. J. P. Davis, Stickney, Mo., after doctor's treatment and all other remedies had failed. "For coughs, colds or any throat affliction it's unequalled." Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at Johnston's Pharmacy.

Dr R. Hicks 1912 Almanac.
Before the great drought of 1901, the Hicks Almanac gave timely warning for over two years prior to 1911 the Hicks Almanac again sounded a warning of drought danger. And so for forty years this same friend of all the people has steadily refused the offers of aggrandizement and continued to warn the public of the coming dangers of storm and weather. As they should have done, the people have truly stood by Professor Hicks, their faithful public servant, who has grown old in that service. Send only one dollar to Ward and Works Publishing Company, 3401 Franklin Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri, and get his Magazine and Almanac both for one year. The Almanac alone, a fine book of 150 pages, is only 50c by mail. Let everybody respond and receive the warnings of our National Star for the coming year.

What Makes a Woman?
Our hundred and twenty pound, more or less of bone and muscle don't make a woman. It's a good foundation. Put into it health and strength and she may rule a kingdom. But that's just what Electric Bitters give her. Thousands of women give us testimonials of nervousness, backache and tired, listless, worn-out feeling. "Electric Bitters have done me a world of good," writes Eliza Pool, Dewey, Okla. "and I thank you, with all my heart, for making such a good medicine." Only 50c. Guaranteed by Johnston's Pharmacy.

Everybody is Talking About the St. Louis Republic
And indeed there is something to talk about. Where there's smoke there's fire. Things are happening at The Republic. Its new editor, Horatio W. Seymour, has his own ideas about making a newspaper. And Republic readers seem to think they are pretty good ideas, too. They are tickled with the crisp, spicy little paragraphs of editorial comment which appear each day; they are delighted with the good, sound, militant Democracy—old-fashioned Jeffersonian Democracy—and the merciless exposure of Republican fallacies and misdeeds; they are laughing over the caricatures and funning cartoons; they are interested in the stories of strange, novel things that happen in every day life and recognize the superior manner in which the news in general is given; they are pleased with the new dress The Republic is wearing—sleeker type and more open lines.

The enlarged size of The Republic, its enlarged staff of writers, its enlarged facilities for obtaining and printing the news and the liveliest and best editorial page in the Mississippi Valley are making The St. Louis Republic the most talked-of, the most interesting and the cheapest newspaper, value considered, to be read by the residents of Missouri and contiguous territory.

Simple copies will be cheerfully sent upon receipt of your name and address. Let us mail them to you; also copy of free pamphlet entitled "Your Money Back," describing a special, extraordinary offer. Write today before you forget. THE REPUBLIC, St. Louis, Mo.

Insect Bite Costs Leg.
A Russian man lost his leg from the bite of an insect two years before. To save such calamities from others and from his own, he has made a medicine to kill the poison and prevent inflammation, swelling and pain. He has cured, boils, ulcers, bites, and even, cuts, bruises. Only 25c at Johnston's Pharmacy.

MADE EQUALS BY LEARNING
With the Same Education, Men Will Lose Their Superiority Over Women.

Rev. Anna Howard Shaw said recently in Philadelphia of an opponent of co-education:
"Perhaps he objects because he is aware that equal education does away with man's superiority. The average man, of course, won't be superior to the average woman when they are both equally well educated. His assertions won't be accepted then unquestioningly."
"Indeed his assertions already are beginning to be questioned here and there. Thus there was a young chap at the seashore last month who on being refused by a beautiful girl said: 'You have broken my heart.'"
"But the girl, a medical student, laid her white hand lightly on his breast a moment, and then shook her head and said:
"No, there isn't the least evidence of organic lesion. I notice a slight palpitation, due, no doubt, to the excessive use of cheap cigarettes, but otherwise the organ is quite perfect."

Horse Pedometers.
The whorls of hair on the coats of horses and other animals are natural pedometers, inasmuch as they register the locomotive activities of the animals on whose bodies they are found.

The best examples and the greatest number of these hairy whorls and crests are found on the domestic horse. A notable instance is the graceful feathering that extends along the hollow of the flank, dividing the trunk of the animal from the hind-quarters. There are also crests and whorls on the horse's chest and other parts of its body.

A study of the action of the underlying muscles explains the origin of these peculiarities in the lay of the hair and furnishes the justification for calling them pedometers, although the analogy is, of course, merely superficial.

Mixed Patriotism.
Up in the Nineteenth assembly district they are telling this story of a fallen political idol. In the rounds of his social activities he attended an afternoon entertainment given by the Outdoor Playground association. Among the vocal selections rendered by the children was "My Country, 'Tis of Thee." At the conclusion of that hymn the political idol was called upon for a few remarks. He addressed the audience with emotion.

"Children," he said, "it does my heart good to hear you. Scarcely ever have I heard 'The Star-Spangled Banner' so beautifully sung."—New York Times.

Fine Horses of Mixed Blood.
Since the beginning of the seventeenth century Jerez de la Forontera has been the most noted horse-breeding center of Andalusia, for many hundreds of years famous for its fine horses. Jerez de la Forontera was one of the first and last Moorish strongholds in Spain, and the best horses there were all bred from famous Arab stallions, so that what is known as an Andalusian, or Spanish, horse has always a good deal of Arab blood; it has, however, been crossed with so many other breeds, especially Flemish, that today the Spanish horse is not registered in the books of record of pure-blood animals.

Expensive Bravery.
The manager of a shooting gallery patronized by women was glad to get another pupil, but he could not exactly sympathize with her husband's motive for urging her to acquire crack marksmanship.

"One night when she was staying alone up in the country a burglar got into the house," the husband said, "and she had to fire six shots at him before she touched him, and then she only grazed the tail of his coat. It's wicked extravagance to waste cartridges like that, and she's got to shoot."

Impossibility.
"Does your wife ever attend your lectures?"
"Of course not, that would never do."
"Why not?"
"Could any wife sit and hear her husband talk for two hours without interrupting him?"

HE NEVER EVEN TOOK AIM

But the Tyro at Hunting Brought Down Two Birds, and Shot No More.

"Only once in my life did I ever do any shooting," said a traveling man, talking to a group in the cafe of one of the big New York hotels. "And that once I made a real hit. It was in a western town to which my trip had carried me, and the natives had arranged a prairie chicken hunt for the following day. Of course I was invited. I protested that I was out of practice, but they insisted that I go along, and some one furnished a gun for my use.

"As the only stranger in the party, they let me go ahead, following the dogs closely. I didn't even know what a prairie chicken looked like; whether they would run along the ground or fly. Suddenly I heard a tremendous whirr, the sound, as I came to know, of the birds taking wing. So excited was I that, without raising the gun to my shoulder, I pulled the trigger. 'Bang!' went the gun, and two of the birds fluttered slowly to the ground.

"He never even took aim," shouted one of the hunters, and my reputation was made. Thereafter I rested on my laurels, not attempting another shot throughout the day, or ever since."

RELIGION IS HIS BUSINESS
Preacher Knows How It Should Be Transacted and Does It Better Than Others.

In this new movement it is interesting to note the cavalier way in which "business men" give the preachers the back seat. It is as if these committees said, "Now you clergymen are the best of fellows, but you are ignorant of business methods. It is high time religion and business principles applied to it. All that is needed is to take right hold of this thing, the empty pew, and run it as we run one of our corporations. Business is business, and these pews can be filled. A factory with a good product only needs business skill to get its product on the market. Now watch us do it."

Now the preacher's business is religion. Why not let him transact it? He has transacted it up to this time. For centuries he has been miserably paid. He is often old and pensioned with a pittance, and many of the "business men" seem not to care. The old-fashioned preacher, in his old-fashioned ways, gave this country a good religious result. That is the way we seem to remember our fathers and mothers as we see them, in adoring memory, sitting in the far-away pews. We doubt if "business men with business methods," a la corporation, factory-running, double entry and money in the bank, will do better.

It strikes us that religion applied to business is more the need of the hour than business applied to religion.—New York Mail.

JUROR FEARED THE DINNER
Conscientious Man Thought Unusually Good Meals Would Keep Him From Thinking Straight.

"The most conscientious man I ever knew served on a jury with me several years ago," said the experienced juror. "It was a criminal case and the jurors were imprisoned in a hotel during the trial. At our first dinner the man with a conscious refusal to eat the excellent meal provided.

"If I should fill my stomach with all that bifalutin grub," he said, "I should not be able to think straight. I am not used to it at home. No man is able to think normally immediately after a radical change in fare. It takes several weeks to adjust his mental attitude to his physical state. For that reason, every man who serves on a jury ought to eat exactly the kind of food he is used to at home, even if it takes half a dozen cooks to prepare it. If that was done, there would be fewer freak verdicts in this town."

"There was so much sound sense in the doctrine that the 11 other jurors had a feeling fancy for sticking to own accustomed simple fare, but the fleshpots of the hotel overcame their scruples and for three weeks we feasted sumptuously. Also, to sustain the conscientious man's theory, we returned what the public called a freak verdict."

Matches Used in the World.
It has been estimated that, for each minute of time, the civilized nations of the world strike 3,000,000 matches. This is said to be the average for every minute of the 24 hours of the day. Fifteen hundred billion is the number for the entire year, and these persons who live under the American flag are charged with the consumption of one-half of this amount. Small and insignificant as it is, the match demands as much attention in the choice of woods involved as any other forest product. Only the choicest portions of the best trees are suitable. Sapwood and knotty or cross-grained wood will not do. Instead of being a by-product, the little match is turned out in mills where the by-products are bulky objects like doors, sashes, shingles, siding, posts and cordwood. The pines, linden, aspen, white cedar, poplar, birch and willow are the most suitable match timbers.

Great Question Solved.
The French academy has solved a great question, its savants having traced the antipathy for the mother-in-law to the red man. In the sixteenth century the Spaniards brought back with them, besides gold and legends, the story of the hatred of the mother-in-law among the aborigines.

The noble red man would not walk in the footsteps of his squaw's mother till the sea had washed them away, so profound was his detestation of his relation by marriage.

This hatred, the academicians think, was a relic of the feeling engendered in the days when man stole his bride by force. Naturally his disposition toward his mother-in-law was not that of an admirer.

We are living down the mother-in-law bogie. Unlike the red man, a good many of us could walk in her footsteps with great benefit to ourselves.

Behind Time.
"What is the matter with this railway?" asked one irate passenger. "This train is three or four hours overdue."

"Think of me," said the stockholder, "and have patience. Its dividends are three or four years overdue."

Naturally So.
"All the parts in this play are fat parts."
"They have to be when the play itself is laid in Greece."

An Inquiry.
"Pop, when the rain comes down in sheets—"
"Yes, son?"
"Does it cover the bed of the street?"
